

ACADEMIC ACHIEVEMENT REPORT 2010

It is our pleasure to report the results of the 2010 Stanford Achievement Test for Cedar Park Christian Schools. This test is an excellent instrument which provides a valid and reliable tool needed for the objective measurement of achievement.

Stanford Achievement Test results are published annually to assess and compare the national measure of achievement for both public and private schools.

Public schools in Washington State do not test every student annually, but generally at the fourth, eighth, and eleventh grades; therefore the results for Cedar Park Christian are reported below in the corresponding grade levels.

For the past 15 years, Cedar Park Christian Schools have ranked among the TOP schools in the nation in Stanford testing.
